BEAUTY OF MANANG VALLEY

"The Manang Valley, which lies close to the Nepal-Tibet border, offers tremendous opportunities due to its rich natural flora and fauna. Three tracks start from here. The first, via Thorangla, Muktinath, and Mustang to Lhasa, a journey that takes four days; the second via Naur Khola and Naurgaon, which takes five days to Lhasa; and finally the third via Larkiya bazar, which is the one most commonly used by the people of Central Nepal."

DRAGONAIR'S ECONOMY CLASS VOTED THE BEST AT 2014 BUSINESS TRAVELLER CHINA AWARDS

Dragonair has taken the "Best Airline Economy Class" honour in the 2014 Business Traveller China Awards, recognising the airline's efforts to elevate its passengers' inflight experience through high-quality products and services.

Dragonair has claimed a number of top awards this year, including the "Best Regional Airline" honour in the 25th Annual TTG Travel Awards for the fifth consecutive year. This latest honour was voted by readers of Business Traveller China, a renowned travel and trade magazine.

"We are very excited about winning this award because it provides recognition for our team and acknowledges the continued effort Dragonair has put into providing outstanding products and services," said Dragonair Chief Executive Officer Algernon Yau. "We always strive to deliver a superior travel experience for our passengers, in our core Mainland China market and to other destinations, making us the best choice for air travel across the region."

Dragonair is committed to offering passengers a premium travel experience and since early 2013 has been rolling out a comprehensive upgrade of cabins across its Airbus A330 and A321 fleets. The upgrade includes new First Class, Business Class and Economy Class seats together with a brand-new on-demand inflight entertainment system, StudioKA. This month, Dragonair begins the next step in enhancing the passenger experience when it begins to rollout new cabins on its A320 aircraft.
